

Ashon Nesbitt, Technical Advisor, Florida Community Land Trust Institute
Ashon Nesbitt is an affordable housing professional, with both public and private sector experience in affordable housing development and finance. Ashon's experience includes administering local government programs, compliance, investment analysis, construction and risk management for low income tax credit development. Ashon has experience working directly with government agencies, lenders, investors, contractors and property managers, and working with a variety of funding sources at the federal, state and local levels. Ashon has Master's Degrees in Urban and Regional Planning and Real Estate from the University of Florida, and a Bachelor of Science in Architectural Studies degree from Florida A&M University.