CRAIG COLLIN

Senior Vice President

Tavistock Development Company

With more than 25 years of experience in the building and development industry, Craig has focused his career around innovation, execution and growth. As Senior Vice President, Craig oversees a wide array of residential projects throughout Tavistock Development's portfolio in Lake Nona, Sunbridge and beyond - including residential lot development, mixed-use projects and Craft – Century Homes. He also oversees Tavistock's onsite property management and technology.

Prior to joining Tavistock Development, Craig most recently served as a Division President with Pulte Group – leading all operations throughout New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania. Throughout his career, Craig has spearheaded the planning and construction of more than 20,000 homes ranging from single-family detached and attached residences, to an array of multi-family buildings. In addition, Craig directed the planning and development of hundreds of projects, including large master-planned communities, infill and mixed-use developments.

Craig is a graduate of Ryerson University in Toronto, Canada.
